

Tiptoe Turns 10 With 10 Designers Reimagining Its Most Iconic Design

A decade ago, French design brand Tiptoe launched with one clever idea: a clamp-on leg that could turn just about any surface into a table. Inspired by French artist François Arnal's T9 clamp design, Tiptoe's version quickly caught on. More than 400,000 legs later, it's become a modern design icon, celebrated for its modularity, durability, and timeless appeal.

To mark its 10th anniversary, Tiptoe invited 10 designers – each with a distinct creative voice – to reinterpret this founding product in their own way for 10 Years – 10 Visions.

With À Point, Constance Guisset captures movement mid-gesture. Powder-coated steel legs appear to "catch" a series of bronze discs, freezing a moment in time with poetic tension.
